

Rescued Air Heroes Sleep Off Effects Of Terrible Trials

Quintet Came Through Ordeal in Good Shape, Despite 218½ Hours Afloat in Pacific.

RODGERS HAILED AS FLIGHT HERO

Aviators Heard Radiograms Telling How Rescue Parties Were Ready To Give Up Search.

Honolulu, September 11.—(AP)—America's air pioneers, John Rodgers and his crew, completed their San Francisco-Pearl Harbor journey to night, entering Pearl Harbor aboard the destroyer MacDonough, while the whistles of navy and commercial vessels gathered there screamed a rancorous welcome.

Lihou, Island of Kauai, T. H., September 11.—Five aviators, exhausted by a nine-day mid-ocean battle with fate, rested here today while the world waited for the details of an unfinished flight which now is history—the attempted non-stop hop from San Francisco to Honolulu.

Their greeting in Hawaii was not the one planned for them. Had they completed their scheduled flight, they would have landed on the waters of Pearl Harbor, escorted by airplanes sent out to greet them, and would have received the plaudits of the thousands of Honoluluans who had planned to see the finish of the flight.

Instead, towed by the submarine R-4, the fliers sloshed ashore only an hour before midnight at Nawiliwili harbor, with only a comparatively few to meet them.

Afloat For 218 Hours. Technically, the flight was completed, for the five men did not leave their seaplane until it grounded on this island. They had been afloat 218 hours when rescued.

Rest and undisturbed sleep was the first need of the quintet. They were taken to the little hotel here and for an hour kept busy answering questions. Then navy physicians intervened, gave them sleeping potions and ordered them to bed. Navy guards were posted outside the hotel, and the aviators were allowed to relax completely for the first time since they left San Francisco, August 31.

The five men came through their ordeal in remarkably good shape. Some traces of the tension under which they had lived for the past ten days were apparent, but physicians who examined them were confident that rest and quiet would bring complete recovery. For that reason, the aviators were directed to go at once to the navy hospital at Pearl Harbor.

Salvage Plane Intact. The PN-9, No. 1, the seaplane which carried the fliers 1,800 miles through the air and some 300 miles on the surface of the ocean, probably will be salvaged almost intact. Preliminary examination by aviators today indicated that the big ship had not been damaged. The motors, stopped only because there was no more fuel for them. One wing was in need of repair only because the plane's crew had torn off its cloth surface to rig an emergency sail. The hull, as navy engineers intended, proved itself seaworthy.

Members of the crew were reticent over reasons for failure of the big ship to complete the non-stop attempt, merely saying that the actual flight conditions differed from those under which the preliminary tests were held. They admitted that the shortage of gasoline might have resulted from the seaplane traveling at a speed greater than that used in the preliminaries.

The four subordinate members of the crew had nothing but the hearty words of praise for Commander John Rodgers. It was his unfailing optimism and good humor, they declared, which kept up their spirits through the long nine days and nights in mid-ocean.

An unpleasant feature of their experience, the fliers said, was the hearing of radio messages to the effect that a conference of navy officials had given up hope for their rescue. One member of the crew declared: "That made me angry." The seaplane was

Poems of the Confederacy

A new feature of The Sunday Constitution Magazine, starting tomorrow, will be the first of a series of noted poems brought out by the rise and fall of the Confederacy. The first in the series is "A Cry to Arms," by Henry Timrod. Each poem will be accompanied by a sketch of the life of the author and a description as to how and when the poem was composed.

A SHORT STORY BY OPPENHEIM

Another outstanding feature of next Sunday's Constitution Magazine will be "The Small Tragedy of Mr. Tidd," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, the peer of short-story writing.

RODGERS IS NAMED ASSISTANT CHIEF OF NAVY BUREAU

Wilbur Decides on Appointment When News of Commander's Rescue Is Received.

Washington, September 11.—(AP)—Promotion to the post of assistant chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics was given to Commander John Rodgers today with the department's congratulations on his rescue with the crew of the seaplane PN-9 No. 1.

When he has recovered from the effects of exposure aboard the craft while it drifted for nine days off Hawaii, the commander will report to Washington to assume his new duties. He probably will make a trip aboard the flagship of the battle fleet now at Hawaii for a fortnight's stay.

The navy's joy over rescue of the intrepid fliers was expressed by Secretary Wilbur today in announcing selection of Commander Rodgers to succeed Captain Alfred W. Johnson as assistant to Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics. Captain Johnson has requested early duty.

"We are overjoyed that the gallant officers and crew have been saved," the secretary said. Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations, and Admiral Moffett, who had waved farewell to the ship when it left San Francisco, joined in the expression.

Rescue of the PN-9 No. 1 and her crew also revived the project for a flight from the Pacific coast to Hawaii by the PB-1, which was unable to make the start with the PN-9 No. 1 and the PN-9 No. 3, which was forced down soon after the start. The PB-1 probably will take the air for Honolulu soon after September 12, at the conclusion of the equinoctial storm period in the Pacific.

Captain Stanford F. Moss, at San Francisco, commander of the PB-1 project, advised the secretary today that the plane was almost ready for flight and that the crew would await good weather. The PB-1 probably will take the air for Honolulu soon after September 12, at the conclusion of the equinoctial storm period in the Pacific.

MITCHELL APPLAUDS RODGERS' PROMOTION

San Antonio, Texas, September 11.—(AP)—Promotion of John Rodgers, commander of the PN-9 No. 1, to assistant chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, was warmly applauded today by Colonel William Mitchell, eighth corps area officer, today. "Rodgers is a capable and courageous flier, and his promotion comes as a just reward for the perils and hardships he has so miraculously survived," Colonel Mitchell said.

"America cannot spare men of his type, and should place him in positions where their knowledge will be of the greatest service." "News of the rescue of Commander Rodgers and his companions is the best news I have received in many days."

LEOPOLD, LOEB GET BETTER JOBS IN JOLIET PRISON

Chicago, September 11.—(AP)—After a year in the Joliet penitentiary where they are serving life sentences for the kidnapping-slaying of Bobbie Franks, Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb have progressed from the mental factory tasks to which they first were assigned.

Leopold is doing clerical work in the shoe department where he started on a bench and Loeb is a straw boss over other prisoners who keep the yard of the old state prison clean. Leopold is regarded as nearly a model prisoner.

PB-1 To Try Hawaii Hop This Month

Failure of PN-9 Spurs Captain Moses to Further Efforts.

Washington, September 11.—(AP)—The naval seaplane PB-1 will attempt a flight from San Francisco to Hawaii soon after September 21. Captain Stanford F. Moses, commander of the flight project, advised the navy department today that the flight would take place after conclusion of the equinoctial storms of the Pacific.

He reported that successful tests had been made with the plane whose flight to Hawaii had been postponed indefinitely to permit concentration on the search for the PN-9 No. 1. The PB-1 on a recent test took off with a load of 1,900 gallons of gasoline, 713 gallons more than the PN-9 No. 1, carried, and regarded as sufficient for the trip to the islands.

Commander of PN-9 No. 1 Relates How He and Mates Fared While Lost Nine Days at Sea.

MINIMIZED PERIL WHICH THEY FACED

Lack of Drinking Water Was Greatest Hardship. Asserts Navy Gave Utmost Cooperation.

BY JOHN RODGERS, U. S. N. Commander of Seaplane PN-9, No. 1. BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Honolulu, September 11.—For the benefit of the interested public, I desire to make at this time a definite statement of facts in regard to the voyage of the PN-9, No. 1, from San Francisco to Nawiliwili. Other statements heretofore published by the press are unauthorized by me. The PN-9, No. 1, and No. 3, left San Francisco approximately at the same time on August 31, no 3 leading by about 20 minutes. The PN-9, No. 3, was not sighted by No. 1 after departure.

Plane PN-9, No. 1, proceeded as per instructions, sailing on a straight course to Kahului. The wind out of the northwest, gradually hauling to the north. The navigation was done entirely by dead reckoning, no attention being paid to radio bearings. We flew between 200 and 400 feet below the clouds during the night, the sky being thickly overcast, and all destroyers were picked up as expected at a distance easily visible from the destroyers.

Engines Worked Perfectly. The engines worked perfectly, and there were no signs of leaks or other trouble. The wind changed to northeast, as expected, about 600 miles from San Francisco, but was much lighter than had been hoped for. In the morning, it became evident that the gasoline supply was running short and it would be doubtful if we could reach Kahului, due to the fact that expected favorable winds were not encountered. About noon we decided that our gasoline supply would carry us about midway between the Aroostook and the Tangier, respectively, the next to the last and last station ship. I therefore decided to land at the Aroostook, which is a fully equipped airplane tender.

We still had plenty of gasoline to land, refuel and take off again for Honolulu. This was in accordance with the pre-arranged plans to meet the situation, with which we were faced on approaching the Aroostook. We received radio bearings from her, indicating that we were south of her. On reaching a point where I thought she should be visible, and not being able to see her, we changed our course to approach on these bearings. It became evident that she would not be found on this course. I started to write a message which would give her some clue to our whereabouts, but just then the gasoline gave out. Both engines stopped simultaneously, and we started to glide from about 800 feet.

Made Beautiful Landing. Lieutenant Connell, who had the contacts, made a beautiful landing in the heavy swell, both engines being dead and having no power. Due to total expenditure of gasoline, we could not use radio and were, therefore, out of communication at twilight. I determined our position to be 50 miles north of the Aroostook station. We rigged a radio antennae on the plane and received without much difficulty everything that was in the air. We sailed before the wind, endeavoring to work the plane in toward the Hawaiian Islands, hoping to make Oahu.

RAIN AND COOLER WEATHER IN SIGHT

Cooling Breezes Hit City Friday and Showers and Cooler Temperatures Seen for Today.

Following a high point of 85 degrees registered Friday, C. F. von Hermann, meteorologist, again predicted that cooler weather and showers are due today and reiterated his prediction that by Sunday night it will be sufficiently cool for Atlantans to sleep under blankets. The minimum temperature Friday was 73, and it was perceptibly cooler than a several days.

"I expect the temperature to gradually recede," said Mr. von Hermann, "and it may reach as low as 62 degrees." The drought has been broken in north and south Georgia by thundershowers, both of which are shipping lines the reports to the weather bureau, and persons be admitted.

Paris Mobs Battle To Hear Doyle Address Spiritualists

Paris, September 11.—(AP)—The spirit of battle dominated the international spiritualist congress today, the sessions being marked by numerous clashes, and tonight a mob of 1,500 battled for entrance to an already crowded hall to hear Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Sir Arthur delivered the complete lecture which he tried to give at the opening session last Sunday, when he was interrupted by "malicious spirits." More than 4,000 persons crowded the hall and all through the speech, the noise of the mob outside struggling with the police could be heard. The noise became so great that the lights, which had been turned off, were switched on and Lady Doyle hurried off the platform to order that no more persons be admitted.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE CRASHING THROUGH LINES OF RIFFIANS

End of War Looms as Great Drive Meets With Success in All Sectors.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN, Fez, French Morocco, September 11.—Sweeping forward under the eye of Marshal Petain, the Franco-Spanish offensive against the Riffians is developing so actively that it is only a matter of hours until the entire 200-mile front between Ouzenz and Kif-fane will be in deadly action.

Members of the American escadrille are continuing their dangerous work over the Riffian lines in the west. It is estimated that their recent bombardments of Chechaouen caused 100 deaths among the enemy while their material damage to military stores and barracks was very large.

Prodded by Bayonets. Sharp fighting is developing here and there along the lengthening battle line. At Askar the Riffians held a former French post, and they refused to give it up until prodded out by French bayonets.

Abd-El-Krim has ordered his troops to capture Issoual, where the American aviators are operating, at whatever cost, but the French expect Krim to withdraw his attackers there, in order to meet the French advance in the center and the Spanish threat at Adjir in the north. Two attacks have been directed against Issoual.

The attack is moving forward with the precision of a West Point parade. The schedule agreed upon by French and Spanish commanders so far has been adhered to exactly. Airplanes are dividing their time between bomb dropping and reconnoitering the shifting positions of squads of retreating Riffians.

Planes Spray Enemy. During some of this reconnoitering work, the planes have been able to sweep the Riffian lines with machine gun bullets. The infantry is constantly advised of the enemy's position by the fliers.

Petaim is in the center sector observing the progress of the action there and hearing reports from the wings. Immediate results in the shape of surrender of several unfriendly tribes are expected from the day's fighting. As the Riffians fall back, these tribes are assured that Krim cannot take reprisal against them for being friendly with the French.

State Delegation Reaches Agreement With Bureau of Public Roads at Washington.

COUNTIES TO GET MONEY AT ONCE

Highway Department Will Use $352,000 To Relieve Unemployment in Stricken Region.

Washington, September 11.—(Special.)—The bureau of public roads has agreed to let the Georgia highway commission use $352,000 out of reserve road funds, between now and January 1, so that a highway program can be carried out in the state now, during the drouth, while teams are available for the work, instead of waiting until next year when regular allotments of federal highway funds become available.

This agreement was worked out Friday at a meeting of officials of the Georgia Highway commission, with the bureau of public roads, which was attended also by several members of congress from the state. This amount is half of $704,000 temporarily committed to the counties, but not spent, and its advance depends upon an equal contribution from the counties where the work is to be done, as provided by law. It will be repaid out of funds allocated for the future.

Holder Is Gratified. Chairman John N. Holder, of the commission, expressed satisfaction with the arrangement, and said that the commission, upon its return to Georgia, would make a survey to determine in what counties the projects would be developed, at this time with this advance.

Besides Holder, those who attended the conference were: Commissioner John R. Phillips, Senators Harris and George, Representatives Upshaw and Brand, James D. Price, chairman of the Athens Boosters' club, and Andrew Irwin, of Athens; Frank Shumate, of Atlanta; B. H. Orr, W. E. Paul and Mayor C. H. Livsey, of East Point; Seward M. Smith, attorney for the highway commission, and L. G. Upshaw, Jr.

Several of these spoke in the interest of obtaining funds at the present time. A particularly impassioned appeal was made by James D. Price, who emphasized that Georgia farmers did not need charity, but only an opportunity to develop the road program now, while the drouth has caused distress and discouragement on the farms.

Pleads for Farmers. "All we ask the public roads bureau to do, is to make available now, funds that have been or may be allotted to Georgia, so that our farmers and their teams may somewhat make ends meet by helping in road construction," he declared. The counties of northeast Georgia are prepared to go ahead and match the government appropriations in the regularly prescribed way.

Others pointed out the effects of the drouth in more than 20 counties of northeast Georgia, emphasizing the need for aid in the road program, to offset the agricultural distress.

Ask Reopening of Road. An appeal for reopening the old Newnan road through Camp Jesup, which was closed during the war, was made by the war department Friday, by a committee from East Point, headed by Mayor C. H. Livsey, and including B. H. Orr, member of the city council, and Walter E. Paul, representing the Civic League of Colonial Hills. Representatives Upshaw presented the appeal on behalf of the East Point delegation.

The war department took the matter under advisement. It is likely that the request will be granted. It was stated that closing of the road has damaged property values, and has caused congestion in traffic, particularly where Lakewood drive turns out, where several accidents have occurred.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, assured a delegation of Georgia granite producers, with interests at Lithonia and about Stone Mountain, that he would take up re-opening lines the matter of cheaper rates on Georgia granite.

CRACKERS RETAIN TWO-GAME LEAD

Heroic Rally by Atlantics in Eighth Inning Falls Short of Tying Pelicans by One Run.

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

The pride that goeth before a fall was presented for 8,500 baseball fans at Spiller field Thursday. On Friday the crash came to the view of 8,311 fans as a veritable tangle of tribulation from bats of Pelican hitters left the Crackers on the little end of a 12-to-10 score and only two games ahead of the second place New Orleans club.

There were times when the base hits resounded from hometown lumber, but some extremely seedy pitching from hometown paws left much to be desired from the Cracker standpoint. The ineffective parade of Manager Niehoff's rifle squad included Jim Bagby, Hollis McLaughlin, Wheeler Dell and Cy Warmoth in its cast of characters.

Joe Martina presided over the pit for the Pelicans most of the way, but was yanked when he became too generous with bases on balls in the eighth. "Death Valley" Jim Scott ascended to the rather murky twilight. He batted at four hitters, two of whom banged back at him. With Nick Cullon on third, Scott batted a couple of hard ones at Red Smith. He probably knew they were bad ones, but for the sake of the old gang he got temperamental. His gesture was one of deep derision of Umpire Jorda as he walked to the plate and dusted it with his cap. Simultaneously with Jim's final swipe at the rubber Jorda jerked back a thumb of equal disgust and Scott passed out of the picture. Cvergros finished.

Cavey Versus Kelly. The outlay of pitching talent expended on yesterday's game leaves Pug Cavey, former Pel, to work for the Crackers today in the final game of the series, and Harry Kelly or Cvergros to work for the Pels, according to the calculation of Managers Niehoff and Gilbert.

The game had its bright spots, though, for the 8,300 fans there assembled. What crowd won't respond to rallies? This one surely wasn't the exception. There was Rod Murphy's slide into the plate in the fifth to make the score 7 to 6 in the Crackers' favor. Before that there was the steady pounding of the Crackers that made the score 3 to 2 for them in the third. There was a three-run Cracker rally in the eighth to bring the Niehoff hands to within one run of tying the score.

The frames that brought McLaughlin and Dell into action were too much for the Crackers. They were

FIGHTING ATTITUDE TOWARD MITCHELL ASSUMED BY NAVY

Moffett Issues Statement Branding Charges as False and Slandorous to Department Personnel.

COOLIDGE TO KEEP HANDS-OFF POLICY

Washington, September 11.—(AP) President Coolidge expects to await developments in the war department's investigation of aircraft charges made by Colonel William Mitchell at San Antonio and not personally intervene until the inquiry now under way is completed. The president has been informed that the facts are to be established by the war department, and it is his understanding that when the inquiry is concluded such action will be taken as is required by army regulations.

Washington, September 11.—The navy has assumed a fighting attitude regarding the charges of Colonel William Mitchell, now that the atmosphere has been cleared somewhat by discovery of the PN-9, No. 1, upon whose loss a portion of the fiery air officer's charges are based.

This spirit is indicated in a brilliant statement issued Friday by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, whose views are shared generally by veteran officers of the navy. Without mentioning Mitchell, Moffett said that charges made recently against the navy and its administration of naval aviation are "false and a slander on its personnel."

"Now that we have buried the Shenandoah's dead and Commander Rodgers and his men have been found," Moffett said, "I wish to go on record by saying that charges recently made against the navy and its administration of naval aviation are false and a slander on its personnel."

"I am ready to disprove these charges by testimony under oath. It is no longer a question as to aviation and the best weapons for national defense, but whether truth, honor, loyalty and respect for constituted authority shall prevail."

That is the extent of Moffett's statement. Brief and direct, its issuance was welcomed by veteran navy officers. Moffett made it after conference with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. While Wilbur has frowned upon another aircraft investigation, believing that sufficient inquiry into the charges had been made already, this statement gives an indication of the attitude the department will take in the event another probe is made, as it undoubtedly will be.

The Acting Secretary of War Davis has suggested an investigation by an independent board of inquiry. Despite Wilbur's opposition, Davis said Friday that he still believed that such an investigation should be made.

General Harris Leading in Votes When He Announces Refusal to Accept Post If Elected.

SNELLING WILL ACT UNTIL NEXT JUNE

Committee Named to Investigate Chancellorship at Last Meeting Is Continued in Power.

Dean Charles M. Snelling, of the University of Georgia, late Friday night was elected acting chancellor until June at a meeting of the university trustees held in the supreme court room, after General Walter A. Harris, of Macon, had declined over long distance telephone to accept the nomination.

In every one of five ballots taken Friday afternoon General Harris led all other candidates by a large number of votes, though not securing the necessary 19 for election. There was some uncertainty as to whether he would accept if elected, and after the fifth ballot, the board adjourned until 8 o'clock at night.

Declines to Accept. During the recess General Harris was reached by long distance telephone and stated positively that he could not accept the chancellorship. Upon reconvening at 8 o'clock the board immediately decided to name an acting chancellor until June, 1926, and selected Dean Snelling to the office to succeed Chancellor David C. Barrow, resigned.

Dean Snelling will receive the same compensation that the chancellor would be paid. He has been connected with the university for the past 37 years and has been dean for a number of years. He came to Georgia from Virginia, where he graduated from Virginia Military Institute.

Dean Snelling succeeds David C. Barrow as the head of the university. Chancellor Barrow resigned some time ago and has been elected chancellor emeritus of the university.

Dr. Edwin Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, was tendered the chancellorship at a recent meeting of the board, but refused to accept.

At the meeting of the trustees Friday it was decided that the committee elected last June to investigate the chancellorship be continued until June. The members of the committee are Judge Samuel H. Sibley, Colonel W. E. Simmons, Judge Peter W. Mel-drim and James B. Nevin.

Assumes Duties At Once. Dean Snelling is to assume the duties of chancellor, beginning immediately, with the start of the 1925-26 term of the university.

LEGION SPECTACLE TO CLOSE TONIGHT

The last surge as the waves of the lake at Lakewood park close over the sinking Lusitania tonight will bring to an end the brilliant three-day military and naval spectacle presented by Argonne post, No. 1, American legion.

With another huge crowd in attendance Friday night, the American troops once more fought, bled, and died, as their gallant comrades stormed the heights to capture Corran, that highly important position which was the strategic key needed by the allies to assure success of their final drive in the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Tonight, starting at 8 o'clock, Atlantans will be offered an attraction of a different nature from anything ever shown here. In reproducing the sinking of the Lusitania—which it will be remembered, precipitated America's entry in the world war—and the great naval battle of Jutland, the legion has spared no expense to add to reality of the scenes and to assure a faithful reenactment of the tragedy.

Smoke screens will be used, with flashing of big guns splitting the darkness, and then the spectators will be able to see the ships emerge from the smoke, engage in a terrific gun battle, and some will sink or run up the white flag of surrender before the victors stage their parade.

The sinking of the Lusitania, while possibly less thrilling, will be no less impressive. The giant liner will be seen steaming along; the submarine will appear on the surface while the commander reconnoiters; it will slip under water again, and the torpedo will be dispatched on its merciless errand of death, even as it actually happened seven years ago. As a climax, the ship slowly sinks, with unutterable scenes of horror and pathos as many people die to their deaths with it.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO LAWYERS' CLUB

Clark Howell, Jr., business manager of The Constitution was principal speaker at 6 o'clock Friday night at a meeting of the Atlanta Lawyers club at the Kimball House.

Mr. Howell paid tribute to the work of the organization, stressing its possibilities for service to the city and state.

James B. Nevin, editor of The Georgian also delivered a brief address which was well received.

John Tye, president, presided.

PROTECTION OF TREES ASKED BY MISS JONES

Protection during the drought of trees, planted by Atlanta school children in beautifying the schools and streets, has been requested by Miss Josephine Jones, teacher of nature study in the George W. Adair school.

During the fall season many bonfires are built under the trees with the result that the trees have been killed, Miss Jones said.

NEW EXCHANGE BANK OPENS AT SYLVESTER

Sylvester, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—The Exchange bank is the name of a new bank recently opened here with a capital stock of $100,000, in the building formerly occupied by the First National bank that failed early this year.

Lakehurst, N. J., September 11.—(AP)—Reiterating his previously expressed conviction that the reduction of the gas valve system from eight to eight valves was the primary cause of the disaster which overtook the Shenandoah, Captain Anton Heinen, German dirigible expert and telegraph to Secretary Wilbur, made public today, challenged the "possibility of any truthfully convincing testimony that the gas bags were intact when the ship broke up."

The telegram was an answer to a statement issued by the secretary of the navy in which he said it was manifest that the accident was now due to the change in the escape valves; that the gas bags did not explode, and that the Shenandoah struck a small dirigible valve system from eight to eight valves was the primary cause of the disaster which overtook the Shenandoah.

"Never did I say, as it seems to appear in your statement, that the gas bag did explode," the captain telegraphed. "A slight change in the escape valves in one of more of the bags would release the dangerous over-pressure, but certainly not before the structure was damaged by the explosion of the gas bag, the diagonal bracing for their trail fastenings that in Admiral Dyson's report were rightfully claimed to be essential for the structural integrity of the ship."

"Doubtless such a rip would develop in the upper part of the bag where the highest pressure would be, and where no human eye could see it."

Taking exception to the secretary's explanation of the cause of the wreck, Captain Heinen said:

"The explanation which I gave you, and uphold, and which either openly or from fear of consequences, secretly, is backed up by everybody knowing sufficiently about airships in the line of dirigibles, and that is simple and easier to see than you will have it."

"Due to the inexcusably handicapped condition in which the Shenandoah was put, it was not even by the need of a small unanticipated tornado or line squall which she could not avoid."

"On ships previously fighting their way through adverse conditions anybody would have dared to tamper with this main safety device, the way it was done here, the history of airships certainly would have been that of even more appalling disasters, and I for one would not be here to tell the story."

Captain Heinen asked Secretary Wilbur "not to follow the easy road to least resistance and to maneuver the poor, mistreated Shenandoah into the role of the accused, but to see that all of us who are entrusted with responsibilities stand squarely up to face them if the necessity arises."

"If nobody else dares to stand up and to advocate, will and nerve will cease to do so, no matter what the consequences may be to my personal welfare."

Klan in Illinois Aided Organizers Held in Germany

Berlin, September 11.—Members of the K. K. K. in Illinois sent funds to Gotha and Otto Strohschein, under arrest for organizing the Klan in Germany, according to disclosures made here during police examination of the two men.

Contrary to previous reports, Gotha and Strohschein is not an American citizen. He lived in the United States for 18 years, but never acquired citizenship. For that reason he will be tried for conspiracy as a result of his Klan activities, while Otto, his son, probably will be deported.

Burton Gray, a third organizer of the Klan, who is still at Hillsboro, Ill., is still at liberty.

The German K. K. K. Klan, whose existence has shocked Germany, may be linked with the fascist organizations organized by Adolf Hitler and General Ludendorff, according to police. Police and the government assured the American embassy that the Strohscheins will get a fair examination.

MACK REFUSES TO GIVE UP SHIP

Chicago, September 11.—(AP)—Lawrence's challenge, "Don't give up the ship," exemplified the last nine days by Commander Rodgers and his intrepid comrades, finds another modern counterpart in the vigorous fight the veteran Connie Mack is making to have returned to Philadelphia the American League position, which has not flown there since 1914.

The Yankee home run sharpshooters were able to register no direct hits on the Athletic scow today and it moved serenely along the course Mack has laid out for it to head off the Washington Senators in their cruise toward the championship. "Lefty" Groves proved an apt helmsman for the first time in several weeks and emerged from the cannonading with a 3 to 2 victory nailed to the Athletics' masthead. Realizing that the Mack club's comeback is not a fluke, the Athletics are now looking for a 5 to 4 decision over Boston to retain a seven-game lead.

Sportively Speaking

By H.C. HAMILTON
"Pug" Named Today.
Parade of Hurlers.
Boxing and Slugging.

THE seriousness with which Bert Niehoff is taking his baseball these days is shown in the announcement that Pag Cavet, who tamed the Pelicans in the first game of the present gory series involving first place in the southern league, will be sent to the mound today for the final game. Cavet, with only two days' rest, again will try to left-hand the hard-dying Pelicans and we believe he can do it.

The parade of pitchers in Friday's contest was almost as unanimous for the Pelicans as for the Crackers, who lost the ball game, but it is to be noted that Kelly was not among those who were on the firing line for the visitors. Therefore we presume that this brilliant right-hander will attempt to give Cavet his opposition. We would guess Cvergros, but Mike worked Friday and Thursday, also. His arm probably needs rest and there are other ball games after the Pelicans leave our midst.

THERE are now two full games separating the Crackers and the Pelicans, so the worst that can happen to the local club is a defeat today and a reduction of the difference to one game. If the Micholows crew can capture the fourth and final game three games will stand between Crackers and Pelicans and the pennant can almost be seen fluttering from the flagpole at Spiller's field. Six games remain to be played after we bid the Pelicans good-bye, but they involve Mobile and Birmingham, which clubs have contributed nobly to the Cracker cause during the season. We refuse to believe that either of them will rise in sufficient might to dethrone the Crackers.

PAUL BERLEACH successfully defended his light-heavyweight championship Friday night when he managed to land more pile-driving blows on Jimmy Slattery than the latter was able to land on the champion. Such legalized assault was presented by these two fighters is a terrible thing to witness from one man who holds a championship and another who aspires to the honor. No science, no skill at countering, hitting, hit and get hit. They simply got into the ring and started throwing punches at each other. Berleach was the better puncher, and the better assimilator of punches, so he won the fight.

What a difference between the two boxers who fought for the light-heavyweight title Friday night and Jack Dempsey or Benny Leonard. Dempsey is one of the greatest feinters the boxing game ever produced, and there are few other boxers who know how to feint. Benny Leonard is the world's greatest counter-fighter. He rarely leads, but he never fails to punch quickly when his opponent leads.

SUCH skill as that is nice to watch, but the boxers who know how to present such an exhibition are very few.

Anna Bradford's Girl, Peter Fellows Are Winners

Indianapolis, September 11.—A capacity crowd witnessed the double card offered at the Grand Circuit harness meet at the state fair grounds today in which eight races featured.

Anna Bradford's Girl was the winner of the 2:05 pace for the Schloess Brothers, who owned the horse. Peter Fellows took the 2:14 trot with a purse of $2,000. The former won straight heats and the latter the final heat, after finishing fourth in the first heat.

In winning the 2:05 pace Anna Bradford's Girl stepped three consistent heats, the best of which was 2:02.3-4. Jackie O'Connor was a contender throughout. The unfinished 2:20 trot was held over from Wednesday because of rain and declared finished by the judges. Only two heats had been raced and Sonia was awarded the race with a third and first.

Lovely Ceremony Unites Mrs. Brown and Mr. Montague

Much interest centers in the marriage of Mrs. Lida Nash Brown and Louis Latane Montague, which was a quiet event of Friday afternoon, taking place at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stringfellow, on West Fourteenth street, Dr. Charles Daniel officiating, in the presence of the immediate families only.

Beautiful Decorations.

Quantities of bright-bud garden flowers were arranged throughout the house in an artistic manner.

Miss Anne Stringfellow acted as the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She was attractively gowned in black satin trimmed with exquisite cream lace. With this was worn a black velvet hat faced with flesh-colored crepe de chine. She carried an arm bouquet of pink and yellow roses showered with valley lilies.

The bride entered with her uncle, Stuart Stringfellow, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the improvised altar by the groom and his brother, Edgar Montague, who acted as his best man. The petite blonde beauty of the bride was enhanced by her wedding gown of platinum gray crepe de chine, tucked and trimmed with cream lace. Her hat was a French model of poudre blue and silver. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony was an informal reception. In the dining room the table was overlaid with an imported real lace cover and held as its central decoration a silver basket filled with pastel-shaded summer flowers. At intervals were placed white burning tapers.

During the afternoon Mr. Montague and his bride left for a wedding trip to Charleston, S. C., where they will sail for New York to spend several days. Returning by way of Richmond, they will be the guests of the groom's relatives. After October 1 Mr. and Mrs. Montague will be at home to their friends at 1030 Peachtree road. Among the out-of-town relatives witnessing the marriage was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Willard Preston, of Charlottesville, Va.

Distinguished Families.

Mrs. Montague is the only daughter of the late General Joseph Van Holt Nash and Mrs. Nash, who was born Miss Josephine Hoyle. On both sides of her family she is descended from the south's best blood and reflects in her beauty, grace and charm her heritage from combined races of noble men and beautiful women.

She is the granddaughter of the late Sam Hoyle, the niece of Conrad Hoyle and grandnieces of Frank Hoyle, General George Hoyle, U. S. A., and General Eli Hoyle, U. S. A. Her grandmother's family was one of the most prominent in Alabama and associated with that state's best development.

Her father, one of Atlanta's most popular men, was the eldest son of the late Major Van Holt Nash and Mrs. Nash, whose ancestors represented the best in the cavalier life of the Old Dominion, General Nash at the time of his death was the head of the national guard of Georgia.

Mrs. Montague made her debut with the belles of 1915 and stepped into a popularity long presaged by those who knew best her social graces and mentality. She had attended school first at Mount de Sales Academy in Macon, and later finished at Notre Dame in Baltimore. A popular member of Atlanta Junior league, she has been called upon to assume leads requiring her pretty soprano voice and histrionic ability.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax Eubanks Montague were the parents of the groom and his brothers are Fairfax, Edgar and Tyler Montague.

Mr. Snook has lived in Atlanta since 1865, and since that time has given his life and substance to every movement for its upbuilding.

He was born in Harpers Ferry, Va., now West Virginia, where he was educated. He fought in the Confederate army as a member of Clay's Chasseurs, which organization was formed in Louisville, Ky. He came to this city when General Meade of the Federal army was in control, and began business as a dry goods merchant. His cavalier affability won him a notable patronage from the ladies of the city as they became able to furnish their war-depleted wardrobes. In later years he changed to furniture and was the pioneer in Atlanta and Georgia in selling to new-ly-weds and others their housekeeping equipments on easy payments.

For many years Mr. Snook was senior warden of St. Philip's Episcopal church, and is still an active member of the vestry of that church.

Mrs. Snook was formerly Miss Irene Lightcap, of Louisville, Ky., to whom he was married 61 years ago on June 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Snook were both active members of the Beechova society, which pioneer organization included the foremost musicians and music lovers in its membership. During the lifetime of Mrs. Snook they were among the number of those who entertained delightfully, their home being a center of great hospitality.

Mr. Snook was one of the founders of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, a charter member of the Capital City club and was also formerly a member of the Piedmont Driving club, and is now a member of the Druid Hills Golf club. Mr. Snook was also one of the founders of the Young Men's Library association, now merged with the Carnegie library. His name is on the cornerstone of the old Y. M. C. A. building in Decatur street.

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—wash dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine was put in my mail-box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others as I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood medicine for poor blood. I was cold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sanative Wash and I recommend it also. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer letters from women who advise my neighbors about these medicines."—MRS. HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

COLUMBUS OUTFITTED HIS EXPEDITION WITH THE MONEY FURNISHED BY QUEEN ISABELLA AND SAILED FROM PALOS, SPAIN ON AUGUST 3RD 1492. HIS LITTLE FLEET CONSISTED OF THREE TINY SHIPS, THE SANTA MARIA, PINTA AND NINA, AND 100 MEN.

HIS FOLLOWERS WERE FOR THE MOST PART SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE AND CONQUERS WHO WERE PROMISED THEIR LIBERTY IF THEY WOULD GO ON THE VOYAGE.

WEEK AFTER WEEK THEY SAILED WESTWARD ON CALM SEAS, A STEADY WIND BEHIND THEM. THE SAILORS BECAME AFRAID THAT THIS WIND THAT BORE THEM ON SO SWIFTLY WOULD KEEP THEM FROM SAILING HOME.

FAILING TO SEE SIGNS OF ANY LAND AS THE DAYS PASSED, THE MEN THREATENED TO SEIZE THE SHIPS AND TURN BACK TO SPAIN.

COLUMBUS CALMED THEIR FEARS AND CHEERED THEM ON WITH PROMISES OF RICH REWARDS.

AT LAST THERE CAME A DAY WHEN THEY CAME TO A REGION WHERE THE TIDE WAS WARM AND BALMY. BIRDS APPEARED AND FROM STICKS AND BRANCHES FLOATING IN THE WATER THE SAILORS KNEW THEY WERE NEARING LAND.

AT SUNDOWN, OCTOBER 12, A LOOKOUT AT THE MASTHEAD RAISED THE CRY "LAND HO!"

CONFIDENT THAT HE HAD REACHED JAPAN, COLUMBUS ORDERED HIS SHIPS TO ANCHOR FOR THE NIGHT AND PREPARED TO GO ASHORE IN THE MORNING.

New York, September 11.—More favorable weather advice was followed by reaction from an opening advance in the cotton market today, but after selling off from 24.03 to 23.73 for December, prices recovered to about the early level of 23.45. The general market closed steady at net advances of 9 to 13 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 7 to 16 points, active months showing net gains of 10 to 18 points on a continuation of the recent buying movement. This sentiment was stimulated by the Liverpool cables, reiterated reports of a more active market for cotton goods and reports that a prominent local firm had issued a price estimate of only 12, 970,000 bales.

The advance to the 24-cent level for December attracted heavy selling and the market was left off on reports of good rain in northern parts of Texas and Oklahoma. Lower temperatures reported in the South were also a factor in the decline, and there was probably some selling for a reaction as well as profit-taking.

October was firm at an advance of 7 to 16 points, active months showing net gains of 10 to 18 points on a continuation of the recent buying movement. This sentiment was stimulated by the Liverpool cables, reiterated reports of a more active market for cotton goods and reports that a prominent local firm had issued a price estimate of only 12, 970,000 bales.

9 TO 14 POINTS HIGHER.

New Orleans, September 11.—The cotton market today was not so active as it had been earlier in the week, and sentiment was inclined to be reactionary on the belief that after the advance the technical position of the market had weakened. The market was accordingly steady, but at times more than enough buying was developed to bring about good rallies. After an early advance of 10 to 12 points, due largely to better weather than expected, the market receded, losing 2 to 2 1/2 points to a net decline of 9 to 14 points compared with yesterday's close. A sharp rally in the afternoon forced prices to new highs, 26 to 27 points above the lows of the day, and the market closed at the top, showing net gains for the day of 9 to 14 points.

The opening was steady with first trades 8 to 10 points higher. During the first hour, October traded up to 23.50 and December to 23.35, but later temperatures, the market eased off, October finally trading as low as 22.90 and December at 23.15, or 21 to 23 points down from the early highs. In the afternoon the market rallied on buying by spot shorts on the news that there was an active demand for spots, and the market closed plentiful in the interior. There was a brisk demand for contracts and all active months made new highs toward the close, with October rising to 23.25 and December to 23.42, or 26 to 27 points above the lows. The close was at the top.

Secretary Hester made mill takings for the week 155,000 bales, and the movement into sight 434,000 bales. Exports for the day totaled 17,525 bales and for the week 45,587 bales.

Dr. Small Begins Series of Services At St. Paul's Church

Dr. Sam Small will preach a series of sermons of special character, in St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, south, this city, beginning Sunday morning and continuing, next Saturday evening, until Sunday evening, September 20.

Dr. Small's conversion, suddenly announced by himself in a public speech at Five Points on the evening of September 15, 1885, created almost a great sensation among citizens as did the first shell that General Sherman dropped into Atlanta at the corner of Ivy and Ellis streets in 1864.

Dr. Small, who was then official reporter of Atlanta courts and a staff writer on "The Constitution," well known as one of the "high-rollers" of the city. The surprise over his spectacular reversal of fortune and habits was really a surprise to the Associated Press carried the story and he received scores of congratulatory telegrams and letters from leading public men and journalists of the country.

Rev. Sam Jones, then coming into the national limelight as an unusual evangelist, at once seized upon young Small for a co-worker. The latter resigned his secular position for a dozen years "the Two Sams" were received and became famous in evangelistic campaigns from coast to coast.

Dr. Small yields to the requests of his host of Atlanta friends to signalize the fortieth anniversary of his conversion by this coming week's services at St. Paul's church. The pastor, Dr. Wilkie Collins, cordially invites both the church and people of the city to attend the services.

TRAINING IN CURB LED BY MOTORS

New York, September 11.—(AP)—Strength and activity of the motor strength overshadowed all other developments in today's irregularly heavy curb market. Cleveland Motors moved up 3 3/4 to 25, Franklin showed a net gain of 3 1/4 at 39 1/2 and Stutz touched a new high record at 16 7/8.

Reports of unusually heavy fall sales of motor cars provided the ground-work for the advance. prices moved moderately higher today. Maintenance of the federal reand indications that money which had been called to the interior was flow-

gave ground for greater confidence in

THE PEARL HEADED PIN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Henry Ledway and his partner, John Selkirk, are accused of murdering a business rival. Ledway is supposed to have died in a railroad wreck. Selkirk serves twenty years in prison. Upon his release he informs Ledway's wife and her present husband, Colonel Hallett, that neither he nor Ledway was guilty. The Halletts are remodeling their London home and Mrs. Hallett goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ledway appears and threatens her with blackmail. Colonel Hallett arrives and Ledway, trying to escape, falls through an open shaft. The colonel, unable to find the body, holds his wife's story of the occurrence a hallucination. March, it develops later, sits Ledway's throat, mutilates the face and throws the body into the river with papers of his own in a pocket. He then adopts permanently his frequent disguise as Cornboise, an art director, and drops from sight as March. Ledway's body is taken from the river. It is identified by Ray Bristowe, a suitor of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as that of March, his uncle, by means of the papers. The police hunt Selkirk, suspected of killing March.

A pearl-headed pin found on the body, which Ledway had taken from Mrs. Hallett is identified as hers. Fearing that she and her husband will be accused if the dead man is identified as Ledway, she testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March. The confidence of her husband and Joan is further shaken by the news that March willed his fortune of 250,000 pounds to Mrs. Hallett.

"Cornboise," with whom Joan plans to open a modiste's shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett recognizes him as March. He reveals that he named her in the will so he might get the money back following his disappearance by blackmailing her. Mrs. Hallett forces him to shelter Selkirk by threatening to call the police. When Joan learns that her mother is mysteriously unable to give March's money to Bristowe, as Mr. Hallett has planned, she begs him to refuse it. He does so; but, misunderstanding, accuses her, even when she tells him she reciprocates his love.

He had dropped into a chair and was staring over the table cloth at nothing. George, the breezy, confident, the successful, was huddled and nervous. He was struck down by her hand—her hand, that she would have thrust into the flames to help him.

She must not comfort him, must not go near him, lest his need of her stamped her reason.

As one in a dream, she went to the door, unlocked it, and passed into her own room.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Joan Turns Detective.

Joan had had no dinner appointment that evening. She had dined alone at a rather staid, rather dull club to which she and her mother belonged—in order, as she had put it to herself, to "shake down."

To "shake down," not to think. When she had left Ray's rooms jangled and shamed to the depths of her being she had thought acutely about Ray, about her mother, and about herself. The final blow of her mother's faltering yet determined refusal to give any explanation of her secret compact with Cornboise had rendered thought impossible. That blow had not staggered her so much as steeled her into a new self.

It was a bright, hard, glittering self that had sprung into being. She no longer burned with shame at the knowledge that she had offered her love to Ray and had been refused. Nor did it hurt her to reflect that her mother was already so deeply involved in some network of intrigue with Cornboise that even to her she could confide nothing.

Dinly there came to her the intuitive knowledge that "poor old Mumsie" had ceased to exist. They would always love each other, of course, more than anything except—no, more than anything. She realized that her love for her mother, without lessening, had somehow changed its form. The old adoring love of a daughter was dead forever.

"I changed when I got my first proposal of marriage," she explained to herself. "With a jump. I don't believe people change slowly. I believe they always change in jumps. And I've changed with a jump today. I suppose jumps are always happening. There will be other jumps for me—when I get married. I must get married, of course, as soon as possible, or Ray will think—"

It was not quite clear to her what Ray would think. But, whatever else he might think, he must be given no shadow of an excuse to think that she would spend her life pinning for him. Far better that he should go on believing what he already believed—that she had offered herself to him as compensation for resigning his fortune to her mother.

The club dinner seemed tasteless and interminable. When it was over she went into the drawing room, where a bishop's wife was explaining the servant problem to a woman member of parliament. As she entered the room they both stared at her. She gave them a sweet, girlish smile and then lit a cigarette at the end, enjoying their wholly ineffectual attempts to put her out of countenance.

After ten minutes with an illustrated paper she was bored and got up to leave the club.

"I suppose I had better go home to bed—but I hate going to bed. I'm in a mood for Cornboise. Pity he's struck off the list."

Her mother had disapproved of Cornboise, disapproved of her going into business with him, but—that was all.

"Mumsie can't have it both ways. I'll just fly around and put Cornboise through the hoop."

As she sat in a taxi her thoughts went back over the problem of Cornboise, Selkirk, and her mother. The facts were meager enough. Her mother was intense anxious to save Selkirk from arrest because she knew Selkirk was innocent of the Bond Issue of $2,000,000 For New City Hall Debated At Three Political Meetings

Saunders, Morris, York and Claude Ashley Urge Passage—Alderman Couch Opposes.

All registered voters of Atlanta owe it as a public duty to go to the polls in the $2,000,000 city hall bond issue election on September 23, and either vote for or against the bonds, according to Alderman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward, in a speech delivered at a bond issue rally held at the Municipal Building last night.

"Under the election law the bonds must receive a two-thirds majority of all the votes cast and this two-thirds majority must equal a majority of the registered voters," Mr. Ashley said. "There is no doubt about the bonds getting the two-thirds majority, but there is doubt that the vote cast will be large enough to amount to a majority of the registered voters and this is why all such registered voters should vote."

Failure to Vote Costly. Mr. Ashley explained that a registered voter who fails to vote in the election really casts a vote against it.

"The chief reason I favor the bonds is that the plan means that Atlanta can get the new building, pay for it in twenty years out of the income of the old building property and will own that property intact," he said.

Mr. Ashley and Councilman W. F. Saunders spoke at two meetings Friday night in behalf of the bonds and also will fill several speaking engagements next week.

York Speaks for Bonds. Councilman Harry York made a strong speech for the bonds at a rally held by friends of Alderman W. F. Saunders, candidate for reelection from the third ward, at the W. F. Slater school.

"Atlanta can only prosper through a contented and employed population," he said. "We do not want to drive employment away from Atlanta and promote interests of other states by voting against bonds or by failing to bring out a sufficient number of registered voters to see that bonds carry."

"Now is the time for us to show by our deeds that we want to promote the interests of the entire city of Atlanta and we can do this by assuring in passing these bonds which will bring a big era of development here."

"This is a bond issue without any tax increase as a tax increase can only come through a vote of the people."

"The school department is right now moving out of the old city hall because of lack of room," he concluded. "Police station conditions are such as would shock Bolshevik Russia. Atlanta has never built a city hall of her own but always has used somebody's second hand building."

City Hall Bonds Debated. Members of the Atlanta League of Women Voters met Friday afternoon and several candidates for the Atlanta board of education and a short debate on the proposed $2,000,000 bond issue to construct a new city hall adjoining the Fulton county courthouse.

Mrs. R. L. Turman presided. W. Paul Carpenter, prominent Atlanta lawyer, championed the proposal and declared that the plan now advocated by friends of the project is a feasible one embodying good financial principles. He stated that Atlantans need the new city hall and that everything is to be gained and nothing to be lost in constructing the building as proposed.

Alderman J. Allen Couch, who admitted he is the only member of city council who opposed the project, spoke against it. He said it is not a propitious time for Atlanta to vote any bond issue.

Candidates for seats on the board of education who spoke follow: Dr. E. Fred Morris, W. C. Slater, W. D. Hoffman and Mrs. J. P. Wall.

Hartsfield Rally. An enthusiastic political rally was held Friday night by third ward citizens at the W. F. Slater school at 8 o'clock. The meeting was arranged by friends of Alderman W. F. Saunders, mayor pro tem and candidate for reelection from the third ward. Several hundred persons attended.

Mr. Hartsfield made the principal address. He reviewed his work as alderman and pointed out the improvements received by the third ward and south Atlanta since his term of office, which, he said, exceeded $1,000,000.

He also related his service on various important councilmanic committees and told of his efforts in major projects.

Following the address by Mr. Hartsfield, three candidates for council in the third ward spoke. They were: W. E. Adams, B. J. Hulet and R. F. Welsh. Other candidates in the city-wide election who spoke were: C. E. Buchanan and Dr. A. L. Curtis, candidates for alderman in the eighth ward; Guy Dobbs and W. C. Jenkins, candidates for alderman in the seventh ward, and John House and Tom Smith, aldermanic candidates from the twelfth ward.

Councilman Harry York made a talk in behalf of the city hall bond issue. Colonel Orville H. Hall presided.

Another meeting was held in the second ward at Poole's store, South Pryor street. Candidates in the city-wide election spoke in behalf of the campaigns. Councilman Saunders also spoke for the city hall bond issue.

LEGION AUXILIARY ELECTIONS AT ROME

Constitution Bureau. Rome, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—A brief business meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the American Legion was held yesterday afternoon at the Armstrong hotel, the main feature of the meeting being election of officers.

Mrs. James Maddox, in the absence of Mrs. Julian Reece, presided. The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Julian Reece; first vice president, Mrs. Herbert McKenzie; second vice president, Mrs. Frank Battle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas Colgate; historian, Mrs. David Plowden; chaplain, Mrs. O. N. Richardson.

Mrs. Julian Reece served as the auxiliary's first president and her election to a second term of office is a distinct compliment to her ability as a leader.

Mrs. Frank Mann was appointed chairman of a committee to get a box of supplies, including, etc., out to hospital No. 48 in Atlanta.

A report was made on the amount made on a stand at the Labor college and other routine matters were discussed.

CLOUDLAND ROAD PLANNED. Rome, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Discussion of the road from Cloudland to Summerville was the main feature of a meeting of directors of the chamber of commerce here yesterday.

President Wright presided and it was decided to ask the county commissioners of Chatham county to meet a delegation from the Rome chamber and citizens of Chatham county Tuesday morning, September 15, in Summerville, to discuss the situation and plan for action of this matter.

John W. Ledbetter appeared before the directors relative to the paving of the road, stating that the state highway department was paying two-thirds of the cost, Chatham county one-third with assistance of property owners on Lookout mountain and citizens of the town of Menlo.

Rainfall at Rome. Rome, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—Thunder showers predicted for Wednesday and Thursday in Rome arrived on time and for the first time in weeks, the city was relieved from the heat wave that has gripped it.

Pioneer citizens declare that it has never been as hot in Floyd county during the month of September before, and according to the government thermometer, the temperature, which reached 107 Wednesday, has not reached that mark since August 1, 1921.

The rain Wednesday and Thursday was very light, but brought great relief to this section. Practically every surrounding district received some rain.

This was the first rain in Rome since August 16, and though the city is not suffering and probably will not suffer from lack of water, City Manager King is urging everybody to conserve water as other towns will need the assistance of Rome if the drought continues.

Schools Open. Rome, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—With the largest enrollment in their history, Rome public schools resumed their work yesterday with every teacher in place. The total enrollment, white and colored, was 2,718, which is an increase of 75 pupils over last year.

Superintendent Quigg says that by October 1 the increase is expected to be 10 per cent.

The senior class is composed of 73 pupils, 51 girls and 22 boys. If this number complete their studies this year, it will be the largest class to graduate in history of the school, as in 1923 the number receiving diplomas was 72.

Plea for Peace By Disarmament Urged on League. Geneva, September 11.—(AP)—Asserting that until disarmament is achieved all peace efforts of the league of nations will be fruitless, Paul Boncour, of the French delegation, socialist deputy and former minister of labor, addressed tonight that, beginning immediately, preparations should be made for a disarmament conference. The conference should be summoned as soon as the security negotiations with Germany have been brought to a successful conclusion, he said.

Mr. Boncour's oration was a defense of the Geneva protocol. So emotionally did he conjure up a picture of the millions who had given their lives to achieve peace that when he had finished the entire assembly arose and gave him an ovation such as never before had been heard in that body.

China's desire for liberation from the yoke of extra-territoriality was energetically voiced by Chao Hsin-Chu, charge d'affaires in London. The extra-territorial rights or special privileges held by foreigners in his country produced friction and disturbed good understanding between China and the powers, he said. The treaties providing for the privileges should be revised at the earliest time in accordance with the provisions of article 19 of the covenant.

The Chinese spokesman explain that the recent nationalist movement in China was entirely in the nature of a protest against the inequalities of the country's international relations. He denied it was based on bolshevism, saying that the Chinese had been for centuries the most conservative people in the world.

MITCHELL TO SEEK UNUSUAL THRILL IN WOLF CHASE. San Antonio, Texas, September 11.—(AP)—Colonel William Mitchell, air officer for the eighth corps area, accompanied by a group of friends, will seek thrills on the ground tomorrow night when his friends stage a wolf hunt for the fliers of the United States air service.

Wolves south of San Antonio have been causing cattleman trouble and the party tomorrow night is expected to rid one section of them, Colonel Mitchell said.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL OPENS AT SYLVESTER. Sylvester, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—The Sylvester consolidated school opened Monday morning, but not with as great an enrollment as usual, due to the considerable confusion of a matriculation fee which was required to supplement funds to be used in replacing one of the buildings which was burned last year. It is understood that matters have been adjusted and no doubt there will be the usual enrollment of 500 or 600.

LOCUST GROVE SCHOOL OPENS FALL SESSION. Locust Grove, Ga., September 11.—(Special.)—With a large enrollment and a full corps of teachers, Locust Grove institute opened for its 22nd fall session Tuesday. The classification of students occupied the first two days, with classroom work beginning on Thursday.

The social feature of the opening was an acquaintance meeting Tuesday evening, the opening exercises proper

American Veterans Refuse To Be Received by Pope Pius

BY FRANCISCO REA. Rome, September 11.—American war veterans were involved in a disagreeable incident at the Vatican today, which ended with the Americans' refusal to enter the papal throne room for an audience with his holiness, Pope Pius XI.

Fifty American veterans attending the Fide conference, or international congress of ex-combatants, now in session, had been granted audience with the pope through the good offices of the vice rector of the American college in Rome.

When the Americans arrived, accompanied by about 50 Fide representatives of other nationalities, who had been invited by the Americans under the erroneous impression that they were privileged to bring guests, the papal chamberlain took a look at the crowd of more than 100, saw several Czechoslovaks, and inquired if there were any present who were not Americans. He was told that the group included English, Greek, Czechoslovaks, French and other nationalities, in addition to the Americans.

The pope, through the chamberlain, refused to receive the group in audience. This is desired by the majority of the delegates.

Papal exception to the Czechoslovaks is due to strained relations existing between the holy see and Prague. The Czechoslovakian government recently participated in a memorial celebration in honor of Huss, one of the leaders of the reformation, and the Vatican was offended by this official action. There, too, there is agitation in Czechoslovakia to permit priests to marry.

Masked Terror Believed Hoax, "PROWLER" OFFERS TO QUIT ATTACKS FOR MONEY But Police Take No Chances

Nashville, Tenn., September 11.—While police heads and a Nashville paper are very, very dubious as to whether there really is a masked terror, some phantom spirit in bullet-defying armor continues to flit from bedrock to bedrock, locking doors and attacking women.

The department of justice evidently shared none of the paper's or police chief's doubts. It has been in the hands of the department for some time a letter from the "terror," offering to quit his attacks for monetary consideration.

While the Nashville Banner seriously doubted the murderer's existence Friday, another paper announced it had received a letter from the "terror," offering to quit his attacks for monetary consideration.

An armed detective, not at all doubtful as to whether or not a masked terror existed, reported Friday he ambushed and emptied an automatic at a masked man in the early morning hours of September 10.

The bullet, which was fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson, struck the man in the chest, but he fled, apparently unhurt, the detective reported. Flattened bullets, strengthened by the impact of the shot, were found after the shooting, according to the detective.

No new attacks were reported Friday. The "terror" has been active for some time, but his attacks have been limited to the city of Nashville. He has been reported to have been active in the city of Nashville, but his attacks have been limited to the city of Nashville.

PATRICK H. KELLEY, VETERAN ROBBER; DIES AT CAPITAL TWO MEN JAILED

Washington, September 11.—(AP)—Former Confederate Patrick H. Kelley, of Michigan, died today after a prolonged illness.

A republican member of the house from the sixth Michigan district for five years, 1913-18, Mr. Kelley, who was 51 years old, was most prominently identified with naval matters, serving as chairman of the naval subcommittee of the house appropriations committee. In this capacity he helped frame several naval bills.

During his last term he engaged in a long but unsuccessful fight against the provision in the 1923 naval bill to increase the navy's strength from 67,000 to 86,000, which had the endorsement of President Harding.

In March, 1922, he announced his candidacy for the senate for the first time, but lost to Woodbridge N. Ferris, democrat. The continued presence of Senator H. H. Newberry in the senate was the issue stressed by the representative in his campaign. He later was mentioned with the then Mayor Couzens, of Detroit, who subsequently was named for the place, for the senate made vacant by Mr. Newberry's resignation.

Born in Cass county, Michigan, October 7, 1866, Kelley was a graduate of the University of Michigan in 1900 and began the practice of law at Lansing the same year. He was a member of the Michigan state board of education, state superintendent of public instruction and lieutenant governor of the state from 1907-11. He made his home in Lansing.

Governor Smith Pillories Hylan With Sarcasm

New York, September 11.—Introduced to a Brooklyn audience as "our next president," Governor Alfred E. Smith assailed Mayor John F. Hylan for ignorance and lack of comprehension, described him as a demagogue and asked Brooklyn democrats to turn him out of the city hall to make way for Senator James J. Walker, in one of the bitterest attacks of the democratic primary campaign.

Red fire and tremendous enthusiasm greeted the governor in Brooklyn. The governor, hauled down by the shaft of sarcasm from an inextinguishable quiver and launched them at Hylan, much to the amusement of the crowd. Smith took up the serious problems of New York, he stated the mayor's stand thereon and then told the crowd that the mayor "does not know what it is all about."

"The mayor's heart is all right," the governor said. "The trouble is his head."

Frequent laughter interrupted the speech as the governor made the mayor appear ridiculous on one subject and then on another. Through it all, the governor spoke in a studiously kindly tone of the errors of the Hylan ways.

About 5,000 persons saw the governor speak, while 3,000 more listened to the speech through amplifiers outside the auditorium and an unestimated number heard it broadcast.

ALBANY SUFFERS $30,000 FIRE LOSS

Albany, Ga., September 11.—(AP)—Part of the huge plant of the Southern Warehouse and Compress company, nearly 100 bales of cotton and a negro dwelling were destroyed in a fire here today, which caused damage of $30,000. Local authorities believe the fire was started by sparks from a passing locomotive.

Valuable property in the vicinity of the fire was menaced for awhile, but efforts of firemen and a shift in the wind confined the blaze to its origin at the warehouse.

Farmer Gored to Death. Corning, N. Y., September 11.—(AP)—Cloy W. Hylan, aged 67, a farmer living near Brodhead county, was gored to death by a bull today.

He held Wednesday evening in the chapel of the institute. The Rev. Arthur Jackson delivered the principal address.

4 CONVICTS SAW WAY TO FREEDOM

Four convicts Friday afternoon saw their way to liberty through the roof of the dormitory at the river camp and escaped.

One of them, Richard E. Pendergrass, 21, later was recaptured at a downtown hotel. He was arrested by Lieutenant E. S. Acres, of the vice squad and his corps. Pendergrass at first denied his identity, giving his name as Nelson. He was later identified by camp authorities.

Others who escaped were H. L. Davis, 32; Ben Brooks, 23, and O. S. Smith, 32. The men reported that they were sick and did not go to work Friday afternoon, camp authorities said.

Pendergrass nearly succeeded in escaping from police station while being held for camp authorities. Using a sharp piece of iron he had dislodged all but one layer of brick before the turnkey discovered his work. He had been in the jail only about three hours at that time.
